

ModuleStudio 0.7.3 has been released

The third service update for ModuleStudio 0.7 brings several nice features. For example a stand-alone generator has been introduced which can be used to include application generation into batch jobs and build processes. Editing translatable fields has been vastly improved. ModuleStudio 0.7.3 also extended support for loggable entities by generating a history view, version comparison using a diff view, reverting entities to previous versions and even reinserting deleted entities. Of course some bugfixes are included as well. All changes in detail can be checked in the changelog.
